Cast a Stone

Aryn Michelle Calhoun, Kristina Ray, Kaden Slay

When early morning came footsteps trudged up the hill
A gathering of angry faces
Loathing hung on their lips
Who will be the first to cast a stone?
I'm thrown down into the dirt looking so used and loveless
Nobody makes a defense
Frozen with bated breath

Who will be the first to cast a stone?

Mercy steps in with fearless tenderness
Who is this man?
Unashamed to stand at my defense
What is this love that forgives like this?

He knelt down by me in the dirt leaving them stunned and speechless
They turned away in shame
Holding on tight to their secrets
Staying there by my side, asking,
"Where's your condemners?"
"No one remains here Lord."
"Then I don't condemn you either."

There was no one left to cast a stone
From now on go and sin no more

Mercy steps in with fearless tenderness
Who is this man?
Unashamed to stand at my defense
What is this love that forgives like this?
